

ABSTRACT

Irene Dwi Astuti. Analyze effect of Profitability, Leverage and Inventory Turnover to Price to Book Value at sub-sector Pharmacy which are listed in Indonesia Stock Exchange in the Period 2012-2016 (Guided by Adrie Putra).

This study aimed to analyze the effect of Profitability, Leverage and Inventory Turnover to Price to Book Value at sub-sector Pharmacy which are listed in Indonesia Stock Exchange in the Period 2012-2016. Profitability measured by return on equity ratio, Leverage measured by debt to equity ratio, and Inventory Turnover measured by Inventory Turnover ratio while is Price to Book Value measured by Price per Share divided Book Value per Share.

The method used is purposive sampling. The samples used in this study is a 39 mining companies registered in the Indonesia Stock Exchange in the period of 2012-2016 on the total population of 45. This type of data is secondary data obtained from the financial statements and annual reports. Data analysis method used is multiple linear regression analysis.

Hypothesis testing results showed that simultaneous Profitability, Leverage and Inventory Turnover significant effect to Price to Book Value. But partially, Profitability, Leverage and Inventory Turnover have a significant to Price to Book Value.

Keywords: Profitability, Leverage, Inventory Turnover, and Price to Book Value.