Comments:

Dear Prof. Min-Hsiung Pan

Chief Editor

Current Research in Nutrition and Food Science

We are glad to submit our paper entitled "Nutritional composition, sensory properties and antioxidant activity of a new developed instant cream soup made from shrimp (Litopenaeus vannamei) and beetroot (Beta vulgaris L.)" for publication in Journal Current Research in Nutrition and Food Science. Our work combine shrimp and beetroot to be developed as instant cream soup particularly for women of child-bearing age. This group are vulnerable for iron deficiency anemia mostly by inadequate intake of protein, iron and folate. This new developed instant cream soup can be one of alternative for those to eat frequently as their dietary habits.

Our work had resulted in selected formula that contain high protein and classified as iron and folate food sources. We hope our work can be published in Current Research in Nutrition and Food Science and contribute in body of knowledge in providing alternative food to alleviate the micro-nutrients deficiencies among vulnerable group.

Looking forward to hearing from you regards

Dudung Angkasa, MSc.

Related removing the 'section from the abstract' meaning the 'Introduction, objective, result, conclusion'?

I will soon provide the social media but not all author have all the socmed may be one of those, particularly facebook and twitter. Can we just send the available socmed ?

Thanks
