

ARSTRACT

NUGRAHA GANDAWARMAN. The evolution of project benefit and effect of rural rehabilitation improvement (KIP) in Bogor Supervised by Izuddin Kartamulia Ph.D.

The aim of this study is to know the benefit of KIP after this project has finished. The result shows the significantly increase for social benefit. First activity of The processing this project is to collect the data of documents published by Asian Development Bank, and the survey who works on field received directly this service.

The data are gathered through the question, interviewing in policy maker and field observation.

The research uses the quantitative method and it is analyzed through the calculation parameter