

Acknowledgements

Too many people have contributed to the development of my ideas and it would be impossible to acknowledge them individually. However, I would thank two broad groups: my irrepressible colleagues and Logistics Department end users who dealt with me in their daily work. I know that I have learned much more from them than they have learned from me.

Firstly, I would also like to thank my principal reviewers Mr. Rizar Indomo.

Secondly, I also thank to the staffs Percetakan Asri on their work on the various incarnations of this manuscript.

Finally, I would like to thank all of you who have taken the time to read since the first draft was printed. I have really appreciated your kind words and constructive criticism, together with the opportunities you have given me to consult you.

Purwanto,

Indonesian European University, Jakarta