

PERIODE TAHUN 2024

Perpustakaan
Universitas
Esa Unggul

Jalan Arjuna Utara
No. 9, Kebon Jeruk,
Jakarta, 11510
(021) 5674223 ext 282
(021) 5674152 (hunting),
Fax (021) 5674248

Pengelolaan Pasien Pasca Stroke Berbasis Home Care, ed 1

Author : Isrofah, Irine Dwitasari Wulandari dan Santoso Tri Nugroho
No. Class : 616.81 ISR p
Location : Jakarta, Tangerang dan Bekasi

Description:

Buku Pengelolaan Pasien Pasca Stroke Berbasis Home Care ini, menyajikan materi cukup lengkap, mulai dari konsep dasar Stroke, pemenuhan kebutuhan ADL dan perawatannya, mobilisasi untuk pasien stroke, (Range Of Motion), nutrisi pada pasien troke dan Senam Otak Paska Stroke (OTPAS), Menfaat dari buku ini adalah sebagai panduan pengelolaan paska stroke dirumah.

Integrating a Palliative Approach: Essentials for Personal Support Workers

Author : Katherine Murray
No. Class : 616.029 MUR i
Location : Jakarta, Tangerang dan Bekasi

Description:

This workbook was created specifically for personal support workers and anyone who provides direct care. As a companion workbook to Integrating a Palliative Approach: Essentials for Personal Support Workers, Second Edition, this book will help you to solidify knowledge and develop skills in providing palliative and end-of-life care and integrating a palliative approach. You will develop palliative care best practices and learn ways to provide culturally safe care to support a dying person and their family, including providing care with a trauma informed approach.

The workbook is filled with creative learning activities designed to develop self-awareness, address bias and racism, and build palliative care knowledge and skills for supporting physical comfort and providing psycho social care for the dying person and family. Examples of activities include reflective writing, short answer and true/false questions, mind mapping, creating vision boards, small and large group discussions, and role plays.

Prepare yourself to care for the dying and their family by:

- Exploring your beliefs and biases through reflective writing and psychosocial exercises
- Developing your understanding of palliative and end-of-life care language, principles, and practices
- Applying your knowledge in case scenarios, role-plays, and group discussion

An Introduction to Home Care Nursing

Author : Omolola Adams Olatayo
No. Class : 610.732 OLA i
Location : Jakarta, Tangerang dan Bekasi

Description:

Home care nursing is an integral part of public health nursing. Home care nursing is one of the fastest and developing sections of the healthcare system around the world. In Nigeria, there is a high demand for this service whilst many nurses were engaged to experience a service that is different from hospital nursing care. This book described in detail what home care nursing is all about, in-house nursing care, multidisciplinary team approach, and expected service delivery. It is a handbook for reference and to update knowledge on comprehensive nursing care. It also contained questions sections as well as suggestions on books for further reading.

Hospice Palliative Home Care and Bereavement Support: Nursing Interventions and Supportive Care

Author : M. Hadi Shubhan
No. Class : 610.73 HOL h
Location : Jakarta, Tangerang dan Bekasi

Description:

This book provides an unique resource for registered nurses working in hospice palliative care at home and for the community, outside of acute care settings and also incorporates literature related to palliative care in acute health care settings, as part of the overall services and supports required. Very few resources exist which specifically address hospice palliative care in the home setting, despite the fact that most palliative care occurs outside acute care settings and is primarily supported by unpaid family caregivers. An overview of the concerns for individuals and families, as well as specific nursing interventions, from all ages would be an excellent support for nursing students and practicing registered nurses alike.

The book structure begins with a description of the goals and objectives of hospice palliative care and the nursing role in providing excellent supportive care. Chapters include research findings and specifically research completed by the authors in the areas of pediatric palliative care, palliative care for those with dementia, and the needs of family caregivers in bereavement. Interventions developed by the editors are provided in this book, such as the Finding Balance Intervention for bereaved caregivers, the Reclaiming Yourself tool for bereaved spouses of partners with dementia, and The Keeping Hope Possible Toolkit for families of children with life threatening and life limiting illnesses. The development and application of these theory-based interventions are also highlighted. Videos and vignettes written by family caregivers about what was helpful for them, provide a patient-and family-centered approach.

The book will benefit nursing students, educators and practicing registered nurses by providing information, theory, and evidence from research.

Palliative Care for Chronic Cancer Patients in the Community:
Global Approaches and Future Applications

Author : Michael Silbermann
No. Class : 616.029 SIL p
Lokasi : Jakarta, Tangerang dan Bekasi

Description:

The new global cancer data suggests that the global burden has risen to 18.1 million new cases per year and 9.6 million cancer deaths per year. A number of factors appear to be driving this increase, in particular, a growing and aging global population and an increase of exposure to cancer risk factors linked to social and economic development. For rapidly-growing economies, the data suggests a shift from poverty- or infection-related cancers to those associated with lifestyles more typical in industrialized countries. There is still large geographical diversity in cancer occurrence and variations in the magnitude and profile of the disease between and within world regions. There are specific types of cancer that dominate globally: lung, female breast and colorectal cancer, and the regional variations in common cancer types signal the extent to which societal, economic and lifestyle changes interplay to differentially impact on the profile of this most complex group of diseases.

Unfortunately, despite advances in cancer care, a significant proportion of patients at home, experience sub-optimal outcomes. Barriers to successful treatment outcomes include, but are not limited to: access to oncologists in the primary health centers, non-adherence, lack of experienced oncology and palliative care nurses in the community, inadequate monitoring and the lack of training of family and pediatric physicians. Telemedicine approaches, including telephone triage/education, telemonitoring, teleconsultation and status tracking through mobile applications, have shown promise in further improving outcomes, in particular for chronic cancer patients following their hospitalization.

Lessons can be learned from existing hospices in North America, the United Kingdom, Australia, Centers of Excellence in African (Uganda) and modern community services in India (Kerala). An important goal of this book is to describe and encourage professionals to develop new community programs in palliative care, which include training and empowering physicians and nurses in the community on the principles of palliative care. The Middle East Cancer Consortium (MECC) together with the American Society of Clinical Oncology (ASCO) and the American Oncology Nursing Society (ONS) have conducted multiple courses ranging from basic palliative care to more specialized training in palliative care for multiple nationalities in Europe, Asia and Africa. Our experience clearly indicates that, to promote such activities, one needs strong leadership and confirmed political will to support the endeavor. The new book will emphasize the importance of having a core of multiple stakeholders including community leaders, government, NGOs and media to be actively involved in advocating for the cause and generating public awareness.

Because We Care! Caring for Aging Loved Ones: a Guide to Homecare for the Elderly

Author : D.W. Lindsey
No. Class : 618.97 LIN b
Location : Jakarta, Tangerang dan Bekasi

Description:

As our loved ones age, their ability to perform daily activities may be significantly affected. This book explores the various ways in which aging can impact the daily activities of the elderly and offers insights and strategies to address these challenges. Targeted at caregivers, nurses, baby boomers, and grown children, this chapter aims to provide valuable information and guidance for those involved in homecare for the elderly.

One of the most common issues faced by the elderly is a decline in physical abilities. Simple tasks like getting dressed, bathing, or even walking may become increasingly difficult. In-home physical therapy can be a great solution to help maintain or regain mobility and independence. This book delves into the benefits of in-home physical therapy and provides tips on finding the right therapists and exercises to improve strength and flexibility.

Hospice and Palliative Care Handbook: Quality, Compliance, and Reimbursement, 4th ed

Author : Tina M. Marrelli
No. Class : 616.029 MAR h
Location : Jakarta, Tangerang dan Bekasi

Description:

Hospice Palliative Care Handbook, Fourth Edition, offers updated coverage of all aspects of hospice and palliative care for the entire healthcare team who provide important care while meeting difficult multilevel regulations. This edition includes examples and strategies covering key topics related to standards, guidelines, goals, and effective care planning. New to this edition are:

- Expanded pediatric and geriatric clinical care guidelines
- More robust details on symptoms and staging scales
- Updates on frailty, age-friendly practices, and evidence-based care