

ABSTRACT

Capital is the fundamental needs of company to survive and doing maximum production. Build a strong effort would require substantial capital. In addition to using capital from shareholders, the company also require additional capital to support the company's activities. the purpose of this study to determine the effect of profitability, asset structure, liquidity, and sales growth on the capital structure in basic and chemical industry listed in Indonesia Stock Exchange 2011-2015. purposive sampling technique methods use for sample selection from 65 populations were selected 26 companies. Data were analyzed using multiple linear regression. Using four variabel in partial test just 2 variable have signifikan impact even 2 variables other not significant impact. The variable are Profitability impact level of signifikan 0.000 with negative koefisien and liquidity level of signifikan 0.000 with negative koefisien. The indicates is if ROA and Current ratio increase will be decrease DER. Even, tovariables are Fix asset and growth of sales didn't have impact to capital structure. In partial just profitability and liquidity have impact to capital structure. The indicates of the profit and liquidity will affect to capital structure, but assets structure and sales growth did not affect to the capital structure.

Keywords: profitability, asset structure, liquidity, sales growth, capital structure