

ABSTRACT

Dwi Nur Hayati. The effect of Capital structure, Investment decision, Firm size, and Growth opportunity to the Firm's value (case study on Sector Property, Real estate and Construction Building are listed in Indonesian Stock Exchange on 2012-2016 period). Guided by Adrie Putra SE, MM.

This study aimed to examine analyze the effect of Capital structure, Investment decision, Firm size, and Growth opportunity to the firm's value study on company in sector Property, Real estate and Construction building both partially and simultaneously. Sample of research were selected using purposive sampling method. The sample of research consist 245 financial statement data from sector Property, Real estate and Building construction listed in Indonesian Stock Exchange during the period of 5 years (2012-2016). This research uses secondary data. The data already collected are process with classic assumption test before hypotesis test. The analytical method used multiple regression analysis, with t test and F test on 5% level of significant.

The result showed that sumultaneous, Capital structure, Investment decision, Firm size, and Growth opportunity had significant on the firm's value. Partially, Capital structure, Investment decision, Firm size, and Growth opportunity influential positive significant on the Firm's value.

Key Words : Firm's value, Capital structure, Investment decision, Firm size, and Growth opportunity.