

INTRODUCTION

Teaching is the process of transmitting knowledge that involves the teacher and the learner. It is the process of attending to people's needs, experiences, and feelings and making specific interventions to help them learn a particular thing. Students in education programs, including students in English language education programs, are prepared to be able to teach. Therefore, teaching practicum is compulsory for them. Teaching practicum plays a crucial part in their learning experience and preparation to become teachers (Saariaho et al., 2019). It provides the chance to testify and also to act out the knowledge that they have acquired previously in the theoretical study (Rahayuningsih, 2016). Diala et al. (2014) stated that teaching practicum is a real opportunity for students to experience the teaching process in real environments, the complexity, and challenges that may contribute to inhibiting the process of school curriculum implementation. In conclusion, teaching practicum creates an opportunity for student teachers to implement and act out their knowledge in real teaching environments.