

ABSTRAK

In theera of the all-powerful as it today, information tecnology advanced rapidly. So that we can get information quickly throught the various sites available. With the internet we can get information what ever we want in it. The internet has also utilized various agencies or companies in promoting producks. Website creation is the right solution to salve this problem, because by creating a website that contains information on this shop can save cost and time for the promotion and can fixed directly to customers or parners who want to get information so that moreeffective and efficient. With this website to be useful in this shop and service activities can improve customer and expand cooperation with business partners.

Keyword : Sales Program Design, Program Sales.