

UNIVERSITY OF ESA UNGGUL
FACULTY OF HEALTH SCIENCE
PROFESSION PROGRAM NERS
Case Study Report, July 2017

ROLLY ANGGIE SAPUTRA
2016-03-05-004

Nursing Care of Clients with HIV / AIDS in the General Nursing Room 6th
Floor of Gatot Soebroto Central Jakarta Gatot Soebroto 2017
Xvii + 5 chapters + 123 pages + 25 tables + 3 attachments

ABSTRACT

Acquired immuno deficiency syndrome or AIDS is a disease caused by the Human immuno deficiency virus (HIV). AIDS is a contagious infectious disease. He attacks a special white blood cell called T-lymphocytes, the body's resistance to infection. When significant T-cell damage occurs, one can not resist most of the germs that enter into the body. As a result, the body began infected with extraordinary infection and settled there. These infections sometimes attack people with a normal immune system, but never develop. In conducting this research, researchers took the case that has been agreed as a case of underlying the case of infection with HIV / AIDS. With the case studied in this study as many as 5 patients under the management within 4 weeks, which will be analyzed data to compare these 5 cases. The data collection is done by direct interview with client, family and see the status of medical record. Findings of things after doing nursing care on clients with HIV / AIDS is handling it with spiritual therapy that can reduce anxiety on HIV / AIDS clients. Expected to provide spiritual therapy by way of remembrance and recitation of prayer as one therapy to reduce anxiety levels in HIV / AIDS patients.

Keywords : HIV / AIDS, Spiritual Therapy, Decrease Level Worry

References : 2005-2015